

WEATHER BRIEFING

Through Monday morning

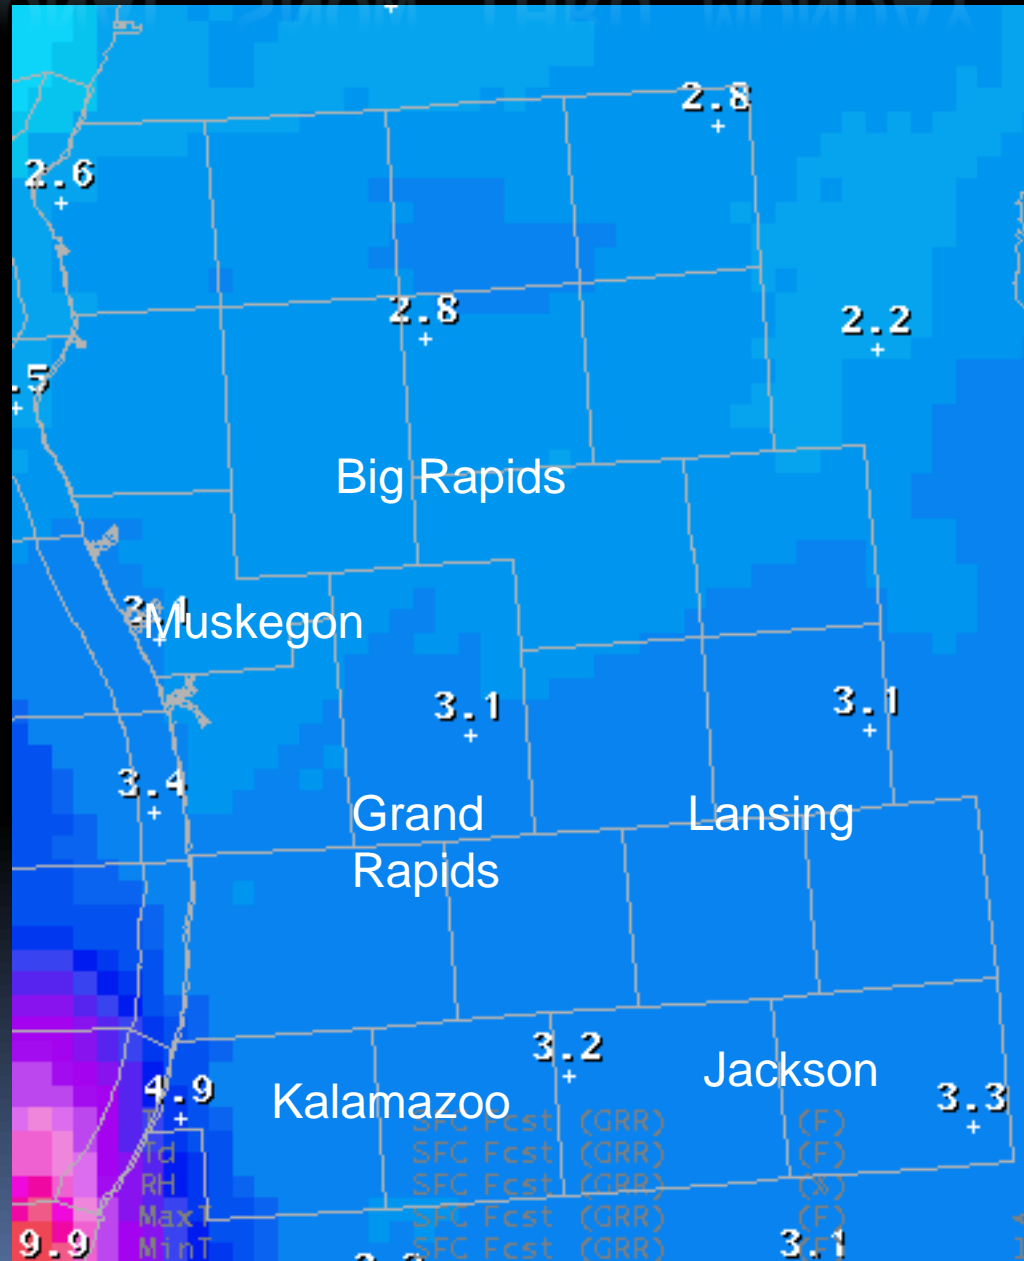

Red = Blizzard Warning   Pink = Winter Storm Warning   Blue = Winter Weather Advisory Purple = Storm Warning for 50 kt wind gusts over Lake Michigan

REGIONAL RADAR

ADDITIONAL SNOW THRU MONDAY MORNING

HAZARDS/IMPACTS

Timing	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Now through Monday morning</li></ul>
Timing of most intense	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Heaviest snow from now until late evening. Highest winds from 7 pm to 4 am.</li></ul>
Snow Amounts	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• 2 to 4 inches from now until Monday morning, with most of that falling by midnight. Visibility below <math>\frac{1}{4}</math> mile at times this afternoon/evening.</li></ul>
Wind	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Gusts over 40 mph everywhere. Some 50+ mph gusts possible, mostly along Lake Michigan.</li></ul>
Other Hazards	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Icy roads. Untreated roads where slush/water freezes then is covered with snow. Power outages from high winds. Sub zero wind chills tonight and Monday</li></ul>

Summary

- Another 2 to 4 inches with blowing snow and icy roads
- Winds gusting over 40 mph tonight
- Sub zero wind chills Monday morning
- Monday morning commute will be cold with scattered snow showers

<http://www.weather.gov/grr>

Webinar Archives

- <http://www.crh.noaa.gov/images/grr/webinars/>
- 